

ABSTRACT

In an implementation of visual query, a visual query definition associates query criteria in a display. A query statement association is determined for each display relationship of the query criteria and a query statement is generated for each of the query criteria. The query statements are combined according to the query statement associations and a query result of the combined query statements is generated for display in the visual query definition.